Mellon, Termed Greatest Treasury Head Since Hamilton, is 75 Today

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 24—With a quiet [illegible] in keeping with his character Andrew Mellon whom his friends call the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton today observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birth.

The cares of guiding the financial destinies of the world's richest nation were left behind in Washington and the slender little man who [illegible] seems unhampered by the years returned to Pittsburgh the city that for a lifetime has been his home for the celebration of a birthday that marked the passing of three-quarters of a century.

Career of Activity

He looked back upon a life crowded with activity first in the field of finance and then in that of government which has brought him worldwide renown and made him for nine years the center of one of America's never ceasing political controversies.

Entering public life at an age when most men count their days of activity as past and settle down to an [illegible] old age of golf and a quiet corner in a quiet club Mr. Mellon became a member of President Harding's [illegible] [illegible] President [illegible] Hoover [illegible] [illegible] under [illegible]

HANNAH STORY BELIEVED FAKE

Workers Grope in Vain for Missing Body of Horst Boy in Bottom of Pond.

10,000 PERSONS WATCH

Father of Orrville Child Among Crowd of Spectators; Despairs of Finding.

By The Associated Press

ORRVILLE O March 24—Another of the many stories of Charles Hannah's regarding the missing four year old Orrville boy Melvin Horst is apparently a fake and [illegible] brain storm.

This was the growing belief here today as discouraged workers groped through the slimy silt deposit in the bottom of the Orrville Country club pond with dimming hopes that the missing boy's body may yet be found.

From all indications the draining of the pond has been just another [illegible] show in Ohio's greatest mystery. Its director was Hannah who had declared that the body of the missing lad was dumped into the pond by Earl Conold. The spectators of the "show" were a crowd of some 10,000 morbidly curious persons who came to the scene just in case.

No Signs of Body

At 10 o'clock last night the country club pond had been drained as dry as possible but the bed of the pond showed no signs of anything that looked like a boy's body. Hip booted men sloshed about in the darkness for a while poking into the slimy deposit but they found nothing.

Hopes were fast fading today as more men floundered about the pond dragging it with grappling hooks. The dreary cloudy day added no encouragement. It was as if gloom were added to gloom.

Drainage of the pond was begun last Saturday. It was a slow process to drain the waters by the pond's own outlets and in order to speed the work a pumper from Rittman O was pressed into service. Even with this, however, night had fallen before the water—or as much of it as is possible—was drained.

One of the most interested spectators when the bottom of the pond was searched was Harmon H. Horst father of the lad who has been missing for more than a year. The countenance of the elder Horst registered a mingling of hope and despair but mostly despair.

Protest Inheritance Tax on Marion Sisters' Estate

Special To The Star

WASHINGTON March 24—Death of sisters three days apart, one in Marion the other in Philadelphia, is told in an appeal filed today with the United States board of tax appeals.

The appeal is that of Rowland Beeman 141 McWilliams st. Marion as administrator of the estate of Hortensia Lee Beeman. The estate is opposing efforts by the commissioner of internal revenue to collect an alleged deficiency inheritance tax of $1,64[illegible]

Hortensia Lee Beeman was the sister of Gertrude Lee D[illegible] Philadelphia. Gertrude died in Philadelphia three days before Hortensia. Having survived her sister Hortensia received [illegible] estate and the commissioner of internal revenue holds that Hortensia although living only three days after her sister was an heir and that therefore her estate must pay an inheritance tax.

But the contention of the administrator of Hortensia's estate is that Hortensia never was actually an heir, her death coming before her sister's estate was turned over to her.

The Philadelphia sister's estate paid estate taxes to three states: $586 to Ohio, $111 to West Virginia and $15 to Pennsylvania.

Hortensia died Dec 15, 1926. She lived in Marion about 10 years.

By The Associated Press

NEW CASTLE, Pa. March 24—W. Glenn Dague of Wheeling, W. Va. charged with the murder of Corporal Brad[illegible] Paul pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge R. L. Hildebrand this morning.

Dague seemed as steadily calm [illegible] and his sweetheart Irene Shrader when she faced the bar in a trial which ended Friday with her conviction for the same crime.

Selection of jurors began immediately after the plea.

The crowds that jammed the court [illegible] in an effort to see the blond [illegible] girl were absent as Dague went on trial for his life [illegible] the case attracted no more public interest than any routine court procedure.

Dague was scheduled to go on trial in the same courtroom where on Friday night Mrs. Shrader was convicted of first degree murder in a verdict that carries the death penalty.

Attorneys for Mrs. Shrader were ready to appear before Judge J. Lawrence Hildebrand with a motion for a new trial. Mrs. Shrader will appear at Dague's trial as will the wife of the former automobile sales[illegible] [illegible] he deserted [illegible] career of banditry.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Texas Guinan has made her last appearance at her Chicago night club and her [illegible] the Chicago police station.

The Green Mill cabaret was closed by police after Miss Guinan and others had been questioned concerning the shooting of Leon Sweitzer, owner of the club.

Harry O. Voiler, business manager for Miss Guinan, was arrested in connection with the shooting along with his reputed bodyguard, Arthur D. Reed. Police said both are ex-convicts. Police did not detain Miss Guinan.

Leaving for Europe

Texas was leaving this week to take her girls to Europe and patrons, [illegible] by the blare of the orchestra and the clatter of dancers did [illegible] Sweitzer running down the stairs into the lobby bleeding from three wounds.

Sweitzer, who owns the Little Club, [illegible] rendezvous where a [illegible] was found recently before it exploded, had come to see Voiler about the rent, he told police.

From his hospital cot Sweitzer identified Voiler and his bodyguard as two of the three who shot me. The other one I could not remember.

Argue Over Lease

According to Sweitzer the argument in Voiler's office was over the lease the famous hostess held on the Green Mill which ran until May 1. One of the bullets struck Sweitzer in the chest, another hit an arm and a third pierced a leg.

As Sweitzer ran from the building [illegible] he soon had Voiler and Reed in a cell. At the detective bureau it was said Voiler served a prison term for holding up the Statler hotel in Detroit and was later arrested for robbery in St. Louis.

COLUMBUS, March 24—Investment trust certificates issued in states other than Ohio and owned by Ohio residents are subject to the personal property tax according to a ruling by Attorney General Bettman. VOTES FOR REAL MUSIC

1,765,229 Join MUSIC DEFENSE LEAGUE In Sixty Days

THE public wants real music in the theatre.

Within sixty days after formation of the Music Defense League was announced in newspaper advertisements (January 13), 1,765,229 citizens of the United States and Canada had joined it in protest against the substitution of mechanical music for Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre.

The cultural consciousness of America has been aroused.

BUT THE STRUGGLE HAS ONLY BEGUN. For every person who has voluntarily signed and mailed a Music Defense League coupon, there must be ten who feel the same way, but have neglected to act.

If you as a person of taste value the art of music and would shield it from debasement, if you feel that the price you pay for screen entertainment entitles you also to living music, exercise YOUR right to a voice. Sign and mail the coupon below.

LOCAL GUN CLUB TO TAKE OVER GROUNDS

Offer of Caledonia Organization To Take Over Lease Is Accepted.

Marion Gun club Saturday night voted to accept an offer of the Caledonia Gun club to turn over to the local club a lease on its shooting grounds three miles east of here on Harding highway.

The local club is planning a series of shoots for the year and to swell its membership considerably above the 70 mark.

Shoots will probably be held every other week with special shoots on holidays according to members of the club.

Decision to establish its grounds on Harding Highway east automatically eliminates a number of other prospective sites considered by the club.

The grounds chosen by the club are directly opposite a barbecue on the Harding highway. It is equipped with two traps and a new club house.

The meeting Saturday night was called by Dr. J. B. [illegible] president of the club.

Daily Proverb—"The living shun modern perfection for mouldering antiques."

Senora Hansen, of Parinpins, Brazil, gave birth last week to six boys, all of them healthy. The cable didn't state the mental condition of Pa Hansen.

In this day of communistic "demands," Francis Toye very aptly remarks that "there is no person so insistent on his rights as he who has acquired the habit of receiving something for nothing." Isn't it the truth?

The Prussian Land bank, which borrowed $7,000,000 in the United States in 1927, has repaid the loan in cash, the first German-American loan thus paid since the war. German finances must be on the up grade.

George Djamgaroff, a press agent, has sued Ganna Walska for $187,500 for professional services he claims to have rendered her. We can not recall ever having heard of any box office returns for Ganna's shows which indicated press services of that value.

The house has unanimously passed the Perkins bill, which provides for the discontinuing of the coinage of $2.50 gold pieces. A lot of people might be better able to decide regarding the merit or lack of merit of the bill if they had some sort of an idea regarding what the things look like.

The Moscow Pravda states that Preobrazenski, former deputy commissar of finance, has returned from an extensive tour of the provinces and reports that soviet Russia is on the brink of another great famine. But why should the bolshevik government worry about that when the civilized world against which it wars continues to feed the famine sufferers?

Professor James L. Boyle, of Cornell university, holds that doctors, nurses, schools and even beauty parlors have combined to produce dieting practices which has cut wheat consumption twenty per cent. In the name of justice, why shouldn't they be compelled to make good the $500,000,000 the farm board is to expend to keep the agriculturist element sweet looking to the maintenance of existing political fences?

Possession of a short-wave receiving radio set in a privately-owned motor car will hereafter be held a misdemeanor in St. Paul. It should be so held in any city where there is a police radio system. What advantage have the police if the criminal world knows in advance what the police activities are to be?

Labor Appeals for State Troopers.

A most unusual appeal, one we believe to be unique, has been made to Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania, by woolen mill strikers at Nazareth in the Keystone state. They ask him to send state troopers to Nazareth to take charge of the strike situation there.

The appeal to Governor Fisher was sent from the headquarters of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers in Philadelphia through Louis F. Budenz, of New York, editor of "Labor Age," following a conference of union officials.

The strikers charge that they are being subjected to petty persecution by county detectives and their deputies, and this is set out by the federation officials, who further state that the strikers are getting so that they are afraid to walk up and down the streets anywhere near the mills against which the strike is declared. The strikers charge that, through the injunction issued against them permits picketing, they are being arrested for walking past the mill and that the attitude of the district attorney of Northampton county is so much in opposition that it is hopeless for them to try to get out warrants for assaults on them by detectives or strike-breakers. It is for this reason that they ask Governor Fisher to send state troopers to Nazareth to take charge of the strike, situation, for, while the constabulary of Pennsylvania has the reputation of being stern in its course in maintaining law and order, it also has the reputation of invariably being honest and fair.

Such an appeal as this to the governor of Pennsylvania is the highest possible tribute to the constabulary of that state. Coming from the source it does, it is the more surprising to us of Ohio, for it unquestionably has been the opposition of labor in this state which has prevented the organization of a similar body here in Ohio. The very first objection voiced against the organization of a force of highway policemen in this state a year or two ago was that of labor, which charged that such a force would be used to overawe and intimidate labor in the event of a strike. And over in Pennsylvania organized labor is asking for the presence of state troopers at the scene of a strike to protect it in its legal rights!

Challenges World Admiration.

Over 3,000,000,000 passenger fares have been lost by the railroads of the United States during the past nine years. Perhaps it may be better to say that, had the railroads of the country carried each of the past nine years the number of passengers they carried in 1920, the year in which the peak of railroad passenger traffic was reached, they would have carried 3,041,000,000 passengers more than they did during that period.

So steady had been the increase in passenger traffic up to and including 1920, that the railroads had every reason to believe that the annual increase would continue, but it did not, partly due to the effect of the automobile on railroad passenger traffic, but more largely due to the shameful condition into which railroad motive power and rolling stock had been permitted to deteriorate under government management and control. Engines and coaches alike were in no condition to attract patronage. Motive power was so run down that maintaining schedules was impossible. Coaches were out of repair, dingy and dirty. With railroad equipment in the condition it was, it offered little appeal to travelers and they began to use their cars whenever circumstances permitted.

To make a long story short, figures given out by the Interstate Commerce commission show that the railroads in 1929 suffered a loss of thirty-seven per cent in the number of passengers carried, as compared with the business of 1920, a loss of thirty-four per cent in passenger miles and a loss of thirty-two per cent, compared with the business of 1920, in passenger revenue. Putting it another way, had the passenger business of the railroads for the past nine years been maintained at the level of that of 1920, they would have carried 3,041,000,000 passengers more than they did, as we have stated; they would have carried passengers enough miles more to equal the carrying of 107,000,000,000 passengers a mile and their passenger earnings would have been $2,300,000,000 more than they were for the nine years.

Such a situation would have a marked tendency to discourage any industry. Many industries would have become wholly discouraged. It speaks volumes for the courage of the railroads that, despite such a situation, they are making a struggle not only to retain the passenger business they at present have, but to regain what they have lost.

Year by year they have improved their roadbeds and their trackage, they have improved their motive power and their rolling stock, and today their equipment is better than it ever before was in their history, and they are maintaining their schedules as never before and offering passenger service and conveniences—yea, luxuries—unknown in the past.

We have evidence of this in the roads running through out city. The Big Four's equipment immeasurably surpasses that of a few years ago. About a year ago the Erie put on two trains which are models of their kind, and only last week our people were given opportunity to inspect the "Sportsman," an up-to-the-minute train which will soon be in operation on the Hocking Valley and allied roads.

As a matter of fact, the courage manifested by the railroad managements of the United States in recent years and at present being manifested by them in making betterments justly challenges the admiration of the world.

A preacher, who left the ministry in 1923 to become a federal prohibition agent and resigned from the government service last July, has been arrested out in Oklahoma City charged with operating a still. The corrupting influence of liquor seems to be unbounded.

The radicals suffered a smashing defeat in the election in Buenos Aires for national deputies, one without parallel in the political history of Argentina. Even the communistic hotbed of South America seems to have tired of the reds and their doctrine of violence.

Norman Thomas has made public a petition to Mayor Walker, of New York, to remove Police Commissioner Whalen for ordering the breaking up of a Communist parade started in violation of the commissioner's order. Of course, Norman knows that the mayor will refuse to act on it, but what of that? There's nothing of the shrinking violet about Norman when a chance for publicity obtrudes.

Sir Esme Howard recently remarked that "since the war, Americans have discovered that George V is on the throne and not George III, and that has been to many a great discovery." In the interests of accuracy, Sir Esme might have made an exception of Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson, of Chicago. The Hon. Bill seemingly believes that the war of the revolution is still on.

An assistant cashier in the First National bank of Riverside, Illinois, who had been keeping a loaded rifle in his cage for months, mortally wounded one of a pair of hold-up men last week and captured the other. There's a lot to be said for preparedness, individual as well as national.

The flesh exhibit down in Miami, Florida, was such a financial frost, the deficit being $24,771, that the city had to appropriate $4,600 from its public funds to pay the railroad fares and other traveling expenses of the contestants to their homes. Still the majority of the girls would probably be inclined to figure that the thing wasn't a total loss, as they had a chance to display themselves to the gaze of thousands.

A number of distinguished American medical men have been named as a commission to investigate the Coffee-Humber cancer experiment out in San Francisco. While the commission is on the job, it might drop off at Muscatine, Iowa, where the people running an institute there have been proclaiming that they have an absolute cure for cancer and certain other diseases, against which the medical scientists have made but little progress, and urging that their claims be investigated.

If Your Heart Misses a Beat!

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

There are many people who are actually in pretty good health and yet who have irregular heart action.

Of course, the normal perfect heart in a well person should be regular in its pulsations, quite deliberate in rhythm, going steadily along. If the heart drops a beat now and again, or even when it slows up perceptibly, you begin to worry about what's the matter.

Well, it is not apt to be anything serious. It is due to nothing, probably, but a condition that can be remedied.

The heart is a wonderful organ. It can adjust itself to many varying conditions. It was meant to be so. A person meets with some sudden obstacle, he may have to jump, or to run, or do almost anything in the way of vigorous exercise under stress and turmoil. His heart has an instant and severe strain. Perhaps some accident occurs. Hundreds of them take place every day. The heart has many extraordinary efforts placed upon it.

Much care should be given a child after diphtheria or influenza, or indeed after any fever. These diseases often leave damaged heart muscles. Fortunately these conditions are almost sure to clear up with restored health.

We need bodily exercise in moderation so as to keep the body muscles strong and the heart muscles as well. Many a disturbed, weak heart is strengthened by regular moderate physical exercise taken every day.

Of course, we are not talking now of serious heart troubles. Any violent exercise, when it is known that any organic lesions of the heart are present, is rank folly. If there is suspicion of any such condition, you should see a physician and have his advice.

We are living in an age which necessitates constant strain and stress if we are out in the world doing the world's work. It is incumbent on every one to slow up and take stock of health once in a while. Be advised by your doctor what exercise, if any, you need. If people would have medical care often, many untimely deaths would not occur. Deaths due to heart disease are on the increase to a woeful extent.

If however, you live a sensible life, take all things in moderation, have plenty of sleep, proper exercise, have good nourishing food—neither in excess, nor to be underuourished—then the chances are that any slight weakness of the heart will soon mend. Many a person has found that with care and common sense the health can be built up to such an extent that these minor weaknesses disappear like magic, and life is made worth while.

Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

Editorial Opinion.

YES OR NO, PLEASE.

Seven questions and their answers on any subject do not, of course, constitute a complete encyclopedia thereon, but when those questions are carefully composed and specifically answered by some one of whose veracity there is no doubt, much information can be gleaned. Recently the editor of the Toronto Globe responded to a questionnaire regarding the workings of the government control liquor system in Ontario. The questions were incisive. The replies were unequivocal. Here they are.

1. Is it your opinion that government control makes for real temperance?

Reply: No.

2. Does government control decrease or increase the consumption of liquor?

Reply: Liquor consumption has doubled in Ontario in two years.

3. Does government control decrease or increase the number of drunken drivers of automobiles?

Reply: Drunken drivers have multiplied by ten, while cars doubled.

4. Have deaths from accidents due to drunken drivers increased under government control?

Reply: Yes, enormously.

5. Have industrial accidents decreased under government control?

Reply: No. Increasing seven per cent. faster than payrolls.

6. Has government control eliminated the bootlegger?

Reply: Large bootlegger eliminated, but small bootlegger multiplied.

7. Has government control proved any benefit to the young people?

Reply: No.

These questions and answers constitute a statement by a trained observer which any one hesitating as to the relative merits of prohibition and government control would do well to study.—Christian Science Monitor.

COMMUNISTIC ADMISSION.

Paul Harrison, of the National Editorial association, having recently interviewed W. Z. Foster, asserts: "Communism accept responsibility for the demonstrations which have taken place in dozens of industrial cities recently. It does not deny that observance of 'Fighting Day' was directed from Russia."

Specifically quoting Foster, Mr. Harrison says: "The Trade Union Unity league certainly is the American section of the Red International of Labor Unions which leads the world struggle of the workers. We fight shoulder to shoulder with the workers of the world against the war danger, for the defense of the soviet union and for the overthrow of world capitalism."

This should be sufficiently frank to arouse American business and labor, one would think; but these mighty threatened forces continue to function with over confidence and somnolent complacency. Isn't it time for a national alert awakening in this respect?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SOUL.

American corporations have considerably more soul than they generally are given credit for. Despite the fact that but a small portion of the population ever has any personal experience with "big business," it long has been the popular notion that there is neither heart nor soul in industry. Mass production, application of sound economic principles and the far-flung interests of the larger industrial organizations probably are responsible. Yet: Recently, the administrative division of the Edison lamp works moved from Harrison, New Jersey, to Cleveland. Its executives moved with it, but 700 workers were left behind. Before the move was made, the company financed a huge advertising campaign to find other jobs for these men. At last report 250 had been placed with other concerns. No blanket indictment of industry for heartlessness is just.—Columbus Dispatch.

Science and Civilization.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

There are times in history, and this is one of those times, when thinking men and women pause to examine the meaning of "progress" and to analyze the nature of "civilization." Various thinkers and social philosophers are beginning to question the value of a civilization which counts its chief gains in mechanical, rather than in spiritual progress. The brilliant Czechoslovakian dramatist, Karel Capek declares that in education America has scrapped the three R's in favor of the three S's: Speed, Size and success.

In his "Innocents Abroad" the late Mark Twain constantly compared Europe unfavorably to America, because we always overtopped them in size, Niagara falls, the Grand canyon, Lake Tahoe and the like. Today we may well paraphrase a saying of Disraeli: "The American talks of progress because by the aid of scientific discoveries he has established a society which has mistaken comfort for civilization." It was the intuitive Emerson who observed sadly: "Things are in the saddle and ride mankind." When Thomas Huxley lectured at Johns Hopkins university more than half a century ago, he declined to bow in reverence to America's size and wealth. He used these arresting words: "I can not say that I am in the slightest degree impressed by your bigness of your material resources, as such. Size is not grandeur, and territory does not make a nation. The great issue, about which hangs a true sublimity and the terror of overhanging fate, is what are you going to do with all these things."

Is it really true that the curse of American civilization is efficiency? Are we too busy ever to find time to think? Is it really true that we are all obsessed with the speed mania, and labor under the singular delusion that we are five times more civilized than our grandfathers, because we can travel five times as fast? Are size rather than significance, quantity rather than quality the criteria we have established for success?

It is true that science has brought us these things. But it would be the height of absurdity to regard them as unmixed evils, or even evils at all. They are unspeakable gains, for mankind, over the depressing and degrading conditions of the past. The lot of the laboring man, in every line, is vastly better than ever before as the direct result of scientific advance. The eight-hour day, the five-and-a-half-day week are boons to mankind, brought about by man's increasing control over matter, and his ability to shift unnecessary labor from his own shoulders to machines.

It is frequently alleged nowadays that science has exalted the material at the expense of the spiritual. Says Millikan:

"The rise of science has undoubtedly filled mankind with a new vision of, a new hope for, and a new effort toward a better human existence than the world has known in the past. * * * As society becomes more and more complex civilization can not endure at all save as the individual learns in over-increasing measure to subordinate his own appetites and impulses to the common good, to the group life wherever the two come into conflict.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, March 21—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up at break of day and rehearsing a speech for a news reel, but such a poor one I telephoned the studio I had been called out of town nor did they seem disappointed. So to breakfast with Marshall Neilan, the cinema director, and one of the wittiest men I know.

Came a gentleman who said he was charting reactions of men engaged in writing and when I told him I talked to myself in the bath and often cried out loud he looked at me queerly. Later W. W. Hawkins, the editorial executive, dropped in to chat a while.

At my desk and read a letter from Albert Payson Terhune that my collie namesake, Sunnybank McIntyre, had, a week after his twelfth birthday, sired a litter of seven vigorous and husky pups. And that Terhune himself, was off to loll on the sands of the Riviera, the lucky fellow.

Broadway's most famous hat check girl is Rene Carroll, a prepossessing miss who presides at Sardi's—a haunt of newspaper writers, artists and press agents. Miss Carroll has been so frequently sketched and written up that she becomes an exemplar of the White Way notion of celebrity. Her autograph book is filled with treasured sentiments of those who have basked in the dazzle of her dimpled smile.

* * *

Word seeps back to Broadway, too, that Pearl White, whose perilous exploits in serial movies won somewhat lasting fame, is living in happy domesticity in far-away Egypt. Miss White, following her movie triumphs, migrated to Paris and for years added to the gaiety of the life that bubbles at Ciro's and other haunts in narrow Rue Daunou. There she met an Egyptian millionaire—a sportsman with a hefty racing stable and several European villas. They married a year ago and settled in Constantinople, the whisper being the cinema blonde received a $2,000,000 ante nuptial gift.

Records show that the majority of fortunate marriages of beautiful Broadway ladies are contracted in Europe. Grace Field who pirouetted professionally at old [illegible]idge's and her own club, is the wife of a rich French noble and the chatelaine of an ancient chateau fringing the Fontainebleau forests.

* * *

I often wonder—sitting in a gallery seat watching the parade—if young ladies who achieve the dubious distinction of "a Broadway toast" receive as many offers of marriage as press agents would have us believe. I have heard of at least a dozen men reputed to have offered their wealth, social position and hand to the attractive Helen Morgan. I just skipped from the typewriter and called up three. Each said he had not the pleasure of knowing Miss Morgan. But would like to.

Speaking of Broadway toasts, it was the once gorgeously beautiful Nan Patterson who reaching the bottom of the toboggan phrased: "I am one of the Broadway toasts who is now a crumb on Tenth avenue."

Lately a sure-fire method of obtaining tabloid publicity for stage, screen and night club performers is to launch a rumor engagement. Many even go to the extreme of taking out marriage licenses to satisfy a tawdry ache for exploitation. That rare Roman, C. F. Frohman, judged publicity accurately. "Anything in print," he said, "that does not suggest dignity and intelligence is harmful." Every producer knows more players have been "killed" than "made" professionally by sensational headlines. But they still resort to monkey business in public to achieve the—

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

We humans reveal our weaknesses in many ways. Perhaps oftenest of all we show our weakness in a complaining attitude toward our surroundings. The habit of complaining is a sad and dangerous one and hard to break. It grows on some people until they become hopelessly tiresome. The attitude of complaint has not so much to do with our situation in life as it has with a mere habit of thinking. Many who, in the opinion of their friends, seem to have the most to make them unhappy complain the least. Others who apparently have every reason for contentment and happiness complain the most. There is but one way to cure ourselves of the habit of complaining and that is to "pull ourselves together." There are times in life when a man must literally take hold of himself and force his thinking out of wrong channels and into right ones.

* * *

Daily we are up against the necessity of the desirability of compromise. Nobody can have his own way all the time. One has to compromise, go half way, take what one gets, do as well as one can. Life is full of compromises. The danger is that we shall be too eager to compromise, that we shall compromise too much. Human progress has come farther and faster through strong convictions in the minds of a few men and women than it has by compromise. A compromiser who has no convictions is a mere weakling. So long as life is worth living at all there will always be convictions worth standing by and fighting for. Nobody loves war or at least nobody should love war, but the loss of convictions leaving man the sport of every wind that blows is worse than war. The policy of compromise is for the weak. It is for the strong, for those who know how to compromise without sacrificing the real substance of conviction.

* * *

So many public speakers seek so hard to "get across" their message, if any, that they sadly weaken the whole effect. The most effective speakers are those who speak quietly with sincere conviction. The public speaker who uses up his energy in the mechanics of elocution rarely leaves a message that anybody remembers. The most effective speakers are those who give their hearers the feeling that behind the man and his voice there is a reserve force of tremendous power, a power which he is not wasting in movement and gesture and volume but a power which is there to be called on if needed.

* * *

One of our most overworked words and overworked ideas is independence. There is no such thing. Any one who tried to achieve it completely would not only be wasting his time but would find no comfort in the process. Life has not more important lessons to teach than the lesson that we are dependent, one on another. In fact each of us is dependent on a number of others. Our business is not to waste time on the silly idea of achieving independence. Our chief business is to learn how to work harmoniously, with those on whom we are dependent and who are dependent

"Lost" Articles at Palace, Library Range from Spats to Violin Strings

A suggestion on how to buy a Living Room Suite

Many living room suites are being purchased these days. Some of them (wherever bought) will remain in the homes a long time and be a source of pride, comfort and pleasure for years to come. Others will prove a disappointment, an aggravation and even an exasperation when they begin to wear, to fade, to "lump up," to sag and do all of the many things that a poorly-constructed living room suite CAN do.

It is what is UNDER the cover that counts in upholstered furniture. It is the HIDDEN part that you should be sure of—not alone the outward appearance.

There is not a single [illegible] of upholstered furniture in our store [illegible] GUARANTEED to us by the manufacturer. We add to that OUR personal guarantee. That's [illegible] and that's [illegible]

[illegible] the quality of merchandise [illegible] as you wish them to be.

Very well You took possession of the automobile and drove immediately here This morning [illegible] another automobile company [illegible] offered to sell the Mercury for considerably less than you paid for [it] Naturally this company got in touch with my client lest there be any reason why they should not avail themselves of the opportunity to secure a bargain Now—I am frank with you [illegible] since there is nothing else to do as I have already explained to my client I am serving them best by [illegible] the situation with [illegible] Mercury Motors became alarmed They felt that something was wrong No one buys a car for $[illegible] and [illegible] less—they thought—fraud has been committed After a conference in San Francisco—hurried I fear and without consulting an attorney—it was decided that while the money was in the bank when the wire was [illegible] it out before the check could be presented for payment—a common enough performance Why [illegible] last week [illegible] a case——

[illegible] to this one Kellogg advised He again tried to catch Anne's eye

Summing up the Mercury management—and you must admit the circumstances were at least suspicious and especially so since I understand that some salesman in their organization who was supposed to have known you in the east left their employ immediately after the sale—summing up they believed they had been defrauded of an expensive machine and so swore to a complaint in San Francisco which was wired here for service and——

I went to jail John Andrew said

We got orders to let you go Blue Serge said But we also got orders to send your stuff back to the Pom[illegible] where you got a bill waitin

They [illegible] John Andrew grinned I [illegible] hadn't been for a little Mexican [illegible] myself—Mr Brockhurst [illegible] this clear I [illegible] could sue [illegible] the Mercury people [illegible] these things [illegible] all lessons But I don't believe in lessons I never did He stopped and found that Anne was watching him continuing the same easy tone he said I've Japanese [illegible] who says that we worry a great deal about what we ought to but in the end we do what we're compelled and that we cannot keep our silly fingers out of the pot the gods cook for us

The attorney said I'm afraid I don't quite catch your meaning sir

Just a [illegible] the last week things have happened When I tried to make 'em work out one way they took pleasure in rising up and smiting me—and I'm not going to make any decision about this although possibly—say Fitz does that offer of $500 still stand [illegible] to sell the car now you know or I can get the $500 from Mr Brockhurst if I release his client from any further obligations.

I offered it I didn't I

That's what I thought If it's any satisfaction to you—talking to the engineer but trying for Anne's eyes again—you're the first man I ever borrowed money from so far as I can remember it's usually been the other way He paused and then went on facing the attorney There's a little Mexican in cell 14 I don't know if he's innocent or guilty but right here and now your firm is appointed his counsel See that he gets a square shake and charge it to Mercury Motors Let him have money for cigarets and things like that I'm not going to sue but you can let your client sweat

There was silence the flush on Anne's face had deepened but she said nothing Blue Serge spoke first

We treated Kellogg good he said If we had got tough with him he'd have it in for you Mr Brockhurst But I always says——"

"Still casting rays of sunshine around aren't you?" John Andrew grinned I'll never forget you—throw back your coat and let the the lady see what a pretty badge you wear

Say——"

Horsing deputy sheriffs is no crime Kellogg stopped him Show us the way out of here James

It's the other deputy who called Jim ——

John Andrew grinned maliciously but said nothing more As they left the room Kellogg tried to take Anne's arm but she drew it tightly against her side and walked rapidly ahead of him

I'll just telephone the Pomsett[illegible] Mr Kellogg Brockhurst said and have your bill sent to us——"

Just tell them that if I don't pay it you will Kellogg requested And —where's Miss Ames going

She had [illegible] telephone for a [illegible] an attendant who had taken Kellogg's receipt for everything John Andrew had earlier been deprived of I guess maybe she w[illegible] to take [illegible] hurt

John Andrew ran along the corridor took a wrong turn asked the way and reached the entrance Anne was stepping [illegible] a gently purring taxi If she heard his shout she gave no sign but the door closing behind her and the driver jumping to his seat stared straight ahead

I'll go [illegible] with you [illegible] John Andrew said Don't blame you for not wanting to hang around a [illegible] longer [illegible]—

Drive to the address I gave you Anne Ames [illegible] the cab starting with a jerk left Kellogg standing on the curb

Fitzgerald had followed John Andrew to the street It's getting along in the day the engineer said as if he had seen nothing how about you and me hoisting one or two before dinner? I know a pretty good place [illegible] bad high gin but it only cripples and doesn't kill [illegible] right——

"Did you see what happened John Andrew demanded [illegible] She [illegible] my hat in my [illegible] just like that What [illegible] I do now I expected [illegible] real —

That's why I'm single said the engineer

THE FOLLY OF FAT

PROVED FOR 22 YEARS—AND TO MANY

CONSIDER the fact that countless people, for many years, have been fighting fat in the modern way. No abnormal exercise or diet to bring harm

Note the results you see everywhere. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat is the exception New youth and beauty, new health and vigor, have come to multitudes in the eas[y] pleasant, right way.

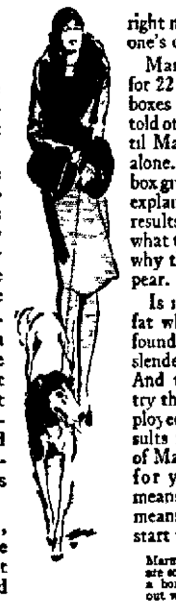
One great reason is a discovery that science made some years ago. It was found that most fat people had an underactive gland That gland largely controls nutrition and its weakness leads to fat

Modern physicians, since that discovery, have applied a new treatment to obesity. They have fed the lacking substance

Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory, contain the factors they employ So this effective and right method is at everyone's command

Marmola has been used for 22 years—millions of boxes of it Users have told others the results until Marmola now stands alone. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the reasons for results So users know what they are taking and why the good effects appear.

Is it not folly to stay fat when so many have found an easy way to slender, normal figures? And the right way Go try the method they employed Watch the results from a box or two of Marmola, then decide for yourself what it means. A right condition means much to you Go start today



Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

SUNDAY morning and almost like summer I let Jubilee down by his rope and put on my short britches I wish I had a pair of britches that would grow to be as long as a fellas legs as soon as he put them on But a boy wishes for a lot of things that he'll never get and don't believe he will ever get

I carried out the ashes and made the fire in the kitchen and didn't shake the base burner down very much and when I got out to the barn with my milk pail and opened the door both of the cows looked around but they weren't looking at me and Jubilee they were looking outdoors and wondering when summer would come and they could go out to the pasture again and get their faces full of soft green grass. A cow is not very brite about some things but it is brighter than anybody about other things. A cow can take green grass and make white milk out of it and it can make milk out of dry hay or bran or corn or anything it wants to When the bunch came we got to talking about all of the things a cow could make milk out of [illegible] when we went in the [illegible] the girls [illegible] I told my [illegible] how wonderful cows are that way and my mother said little boys were just as wonderful She said they eat all sorts of things and they make [illegible] out of what they eat and learn to think with and [illegible] and [illegible] is more wonder[ful] things than a cow makes out of what a cow eats Then my grand father told them how the fish he had [illegible] the [illegible] bit his leg so hard that [illegible] through his rubber boot and [illegible] so that no one believed him

[illegible] looked at Feeble and we were [illegible] thinking about the crawfish she [illegible] but she just rolled her eyes and I said nothing My aunt [illegible] face and neck and ears, [and] the girls watched her and Feeble [illegible] there was more rubber in my [illegible] than there is in a tire She would [illegible] her face too if she had an aunt [illegible] it like my aunt does mine

Today was Monday It was thundering when me and Jubilee woke up [illegible] thunder was rolling around all day a long ways off and the teacher [said] our April weather was beginning early She asked us which month we liked best and I said June She said that was a very good choice and I might tell the school why I liked June best so I told them I liked it best because that was when vacation started and they all clapped The teacher looked surprised I don't know why Annabelle Lee tried to make our cat eat a piece of chocolate and got three scratches on her face and had to eat her own chocolate Girls start not being very brite as soon as they are born)

THE [illegible] could be [illegible] tion of Mary's [illegible] as soon as [illegible] at [illegible] paper sent [illegible] has passed She must have [illegible] and Mrs Has[brouck] [illegible] had prevented her [illegible] her way upstairs [illegible] attempted [illegible] to her assent [illegible] with [illegible] could take [illegible]

I waited [illegible] minute before [illegible] Mary [illegible] and turned [illegible] my [illegible] Then I sat down opposite her and asked coolly

What [illegible] you mean [illegible] Mary

[illegible] shrugged her shoulders [illegible]

The Prisoner Rebels

"I don't know what else [illegible] it I look out of the window [illegible] see that it's the most glorious [illegible] night imaginable and say [illegible] that I'll have a little run [illegible] down the moonlit road while you're [illegible] at this [illegible] home And when I [came] downstairs and [illegible] the [illegible] locked Naturally I [illegible] Mrs Hasbrouck and ask her [to] let me out and what do you think that dame had the nerve to tell me?

I don't know Mary I am sure I said smiling but I can guess.

I don't think you can she retorted "The idea of course was yours to begin with but the way she carried it out——listen! Did you tell her to say that it was a rule of the house no young girl should go outside at night alone?

I caught back a smile at the thoroughness of Mrs Hasbrouck's methods and explained gravely

No Mary I didn't stipulate what she should tell you I didn't have time But I did tell her that I didn't wish you to go out of here while I was gone and she used her own judgment when the emergency [con]fronted her

Mary's face hardened

But why should you tell her that?" she asked stressing the last pronoun Don't you know that all you had to do was to ask me not to go outside?

I forbore to remind my husband's willful young niece that on several occasions a simple request had not been sufficient to insure her obedience and my answer was an apparently contrite and disarming one

I didn't have time dearest to speak to you The truth is that I forgot to tell you before I went [down] [illegible] and then I [did]n't have time to [illegible] tell you So I asked Mrs Hasbrouck [illegible] I really didn't think there would be any necessity for her chap[illegible]

[illegible] Mary asked passionately What harm was there?

[illegible] And [illegible] Mrs Has[brouck] was taking [illegible] the [illegible] can [illegible] tell you [illegible]

I need [illegible] Mary ran straight toward [illegible] a frightened [illegible]

Oh [illegible] Madge she said [illegible] What shall I I?

Nothing [illegible] me I answered ashamed of the subterfuge Harry [illegible] compelled me to use I'll take care of you child Don't be frightened

Mary Is Cured

The [illegible] was a useless one for [illegible] suddenly had drawn herself [illegible] was facing me with eyes in which [illegible] of terror lurked

I'm glad he isn't here she cried [illegible] he can't be trying to hurt Noel [illegible] is staying around here

You darling I said softly for the sight of her intrepidity conquering her fears was an alluring one And now you shall have your moonlit run after all Remember Mr Underwood has no certain knowledge of Leslie's whereabouts simply a vague rumor that he is somewhere in the Catskills

That's near enough large as the order is Mary retorted

Yes I know I returned but even if he is near here he couldn't possibly know of our being here so I think you're safe in coming over with me to the Cosgrove house I must see Mrs Cosgrove again before I sleep and you can sit in one of the other rooms while I talk to her and then we'll have the little stroll, if you still wish it

No, Mary shook her curly head decidedly "I'm cured of any desire for moonlight strolling Little Mary stays right in this room tonight and [is] going to lock the door while you're gone also the window

Doomed Men Re-Live Romances

"MEN WITHOUT WOMEN" at the Marion Sunday, Monday and Tuesday is a play that analyzes the feelings and thoughts of men who are doomed to death. In the Sunday afternoon audience some of the action brought thrills to the older folks and cheers from the kids, especially the boys.

The story is not one that will make this picture outstanding in movie entertainment. Most of the real acting and interest centers around the 14 men trapped in a sunken submarine the S 13. There are no women in the cast except the entertainers in a Shanghai bar. The only love interest is in the romances that are re-lived by the men who are slowly dying in the submarine. The show is nothing to lose finger nails over, but it makes fair entertainment.

A Silly Symphony news reel comedy and a short with Raymond Hitchcock completed the bill.

* * *

Brian, Cooper Ideally Cast

A CHARMING love affair, full of good acting by Gary Cooper and Mary Brian, make "Only the Brave" above the average entertainment. There is nothing heavy in the story of a romance between a Northern soldier as a spy in the Confederate army and the daughter of a Virginia planter but the acting of Cooper and Brian make the play a delightful hour and a half's show.

Gary and Mary, who have teamed in several other pictures, are ideally cast as lovers in this picture.

The play holds the interest throughout with its adaption of the love of the Union man and a Confederate girl. The acting of Cooper and Brian raise this picture above the average Civil war play.

One of the best comedy scenes in the show is between Gary Cooper and William LeMaire, the sentinel who is left to guard Cooper while he is waiting to be shot by the Confederate soldiers. Philips Holmes is good as Captain Robert Darrington, the southern boy who is hopelessly and jealously in love with Barbara Calhoun.

The make-up of Guy Oliver and John H. Elliott as Grant and Lee, is convincing, as is the surrender of Lee to Grant at Appomatox.

The bill includes a newsreel, comedy and several shorts. It will be shown for the last times tonight.

GIRL NAMES MAN AS FIRE ASSAILANT

Accuses Him of Trying To Burn Her to Death in Texas Hotel.

By The Associated Press

FAIRFIELD, Tex., March 24—Named by Miss Wilma Jones, 23, as the man who attempted to burn her to death in a hotel room, Tom Dodd, 30, has been spirited from jail here by Texas Rangers who refuse to announce his whereabouts. The Rangers did not explain the reason for their act.

Dodd attempted to burn her alive when she told him she would inform officers he had received part of the proceeds from a forged check, the young woman said.

The girl admitted a previous story that she did not recognize her assailant was false. The Rangers said Miss Jones declared G. S. Moore, wealthy Oakwood business man, charged with arson in connection with the case, did not set the fire and did not have the crime committed.

Miss Jones, bound and gagged, was rescued from the room Wednesday night by the hotel proprietor. She was not burned.

Moore was arrested and released on $1,000 bond shortly after the attempted burning. The girl, whose home is in Oakwood, was in Fairfield for trial on charges of forging the merchant's name to several checks.

After a several day investigation by Rangers and county officials Dodd and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Dodd, were arrested and charged as accessories with the girl in the forgery.

The woman was released Saturday on $500 bond.

OHIO ENGINEER HERO IN WRECK

Killed When He Stays at Post To Assure Safety of Passengers.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, March [illegible]—[illegible] Charles A. Dell [illegible] was hailed [illegible] [illegible] passengers.

Dell [illegible] engineer of the New York Detroit limited, fast Pennsylvania train, when a wobbly wheel of the locomotive failed to take a switch near Spring Mill junction six miles west of here early yesterday.

He had a few seconds in which he could have leaped for his life, but Dell, facing certain death, held his post and set the air brakes, which ground the train of Pullman cars down to a stop at the expense of nothing more than a shaking up to the sleeping passengers.

The engine bounding down the ties careened into a ditch and buried its nose eight feet in the soft earth. Hours later acetylene torches cut the twisted steel away from the engineer's body.

Fireman P. F. Jensen was thrown from the cab seriously scalded. Both Dell and Jensen lived here.

The coal tender and the engine were demolished and the two baggage cars and an express car next behind were turned on their sides but the Pullmans remained upright.

Traffic was tied up eight hours.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

This is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

DAYTON WINS THIRD STRAIGHT PENNANT

STIVERS TO LOSE THREE YEAR STAR

Big Hosket Graduates from Orange Crushers in June; Have New Freshman Star.

BY LATHROP MACK
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS O March 24 — Stivers High of Dayton will be without the valuable services of Bill Hosket next year in its drive for a fourth consecutive state [illegible] basketball championship [illegible] for the honor will [illegible] face another good [illegible] a center, who [illegible] man than Hosket [illegible] year.

At least that's the [illegible] of Stivers coach [illegible] who think Stivers will [illegible] other basketball [illegible] nation of its all state center [illegible] it for what it's worth.

A boy named George [illegible] name is unimportant [illegible] lad on whom Stahl is counting to replace Captain Hosket who led his team victoriously through all its 30 games this season and climaxed the record by defeating East High of Akron 18 to 16 here last Saturday night for its third straight championship.

Two Stars Graduate

Max Padlow Stahl's star forward and Robert McConnell his best defensive guard will be graduated in June along with Hosket. Stahl will start the next campaign with Tom Denny regular forward and Martin Armbruster the running guard who started most of Stivers' plays.

Hosket and Padlow both were [illegible] all state [illegible] team along with Russell Estey of Akron [illegible] and David Appleby [illegible] of Canton McKinley at guard.

[illegible] Hosket also who [illegible] East [illegible] championship Saturday night [illegible] Warren Vannorsdall's [illegible] their best game of the year [illegible] unafraid of Hosket [illegible] played Stivers to a [illegible] for 30 minutes. They tied the score at 4 to 4, 7 to 7 and then at 16 to 16 with two minutes to go.

East Gives Battle

[illegible] the tying goal which [illegible] the demoralization of Stivers [illegible] defense and sent the huge crowd of 6,000 spectators into a [illegible] of excitement. The next minute [illegible] Padlow of Stivers [illegible] the goal. Padlow missed the first throw but the second free shot seemed [illegible] missed purposely to provide an opportunity for Hosket to tip the ball into the basket for two points on the rebound.

Anyway that's exactly what happened giving Stivers the 18 to 16 edge which they held to the final gun.

St Mary's of Lancaster almost set an all time record in winning the class B championship from Rome Township High school of Proctorville Lawrence county. The score was 44 to 3 and Rome did not score until the last few minutes.

Y-INDUS TEAM IN ONE-SIDED VICTORY

Marion Booys Defeat Dayton Y Cagers Saturday Night. Laycock Stars.

THE expected strength of the Dayton Dynamos [illegible] failed to materialize in their game [illegible] Saturday night and the [illegible] boys had little difficulty in [illegible] the visitors 28 to 19. Laycock [illegible] center for Dayton was the only man who offered any resistance and as all round play was [illegible] floorwork baffling the Y Indus [illegible] at times and his shooting [illegible] for the only points which his team scored in the opening half. He was unable to stop the Marion team however and the [illegible] was never hard pressed [illegible] game. The Y Indus team [illegible] although lack of competition caused their play to be somewhat ragged at times.

Y Indus scored [illegible] points at the beginning of the game before Dayton was able to tally a single marker. Laycock tossed in a [illegible] breaking the scoring ice for his team. He managed to count another [illegible] and a charity throw during the remainder of the opening half to make all of the five points which his team scored in that period.

In the second half Dayton made one or two desperate attempts to catch up with the locals but could not match scoring power with Cram and Gillis who accounted for 18 of their team's 28 points. The score at the end of the third quarter was 22-11. The final period was a repetition of the others with Y Indus romping all over the floor and receiving little opposition from the visitors. Williams gave the spectators a thrill when he dropped a double marker through the hoop from beyond the opposite foul line. It was the last availing effort of Dayton for the game ended at that time with the score 28 to 19 for Marion Y Indus.

Times Change Since David and Goliath Fought One Round Battle, Says Walsh

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK March 24—There [illegible] any boxing commission [illegible] Goliath was unable [illegible] a return match with David [illegible] unfortunate manager had to [illegible] work. But these are enlightened times and tonight they are [illegible] Vittorio Campolo the seven [illegible] from Argentina back with Johnny Risko in order that John [illegible] experience the rudimentary [illegible] twice [illegible] the chance [illegible]

Before the evening is over we [illegible] a definite idea of [illegible] this particular foreigner [illegible] is a real threat against the [illegible] heavyweight championship or just one [illegible] the dock hands on the good ship [illegible]

Of course we might have a foreign [illegible] The New York boxing [illegible] unhappy without one [illegible] even though [illegible] about it himself [illegible] told Campolo to keep right on [illegible] which he therefore [illegible] and did.

He was such a swell menace [illegible] commission's viewpoint that [illegible] refused to be a party to an atrocity [illegible] wouldn't let him bash our John [illegible] here. So the Garden put the thing on at Miami and everybody [illegible] John won seven out of 10 rounds.

Referee Differs

There was I believe an exception [illegible] this view. The man who held it was only the referee. Anyhow he called it a draw thereby proving that everybody was out of step except himself.

So [illegible] John had to go out [illegible] New York [illegible] He [illegible] good [illegible] the Campolo [illegible] today he is a 7 to 5 shot against the giant and in the commission's own show [illegible] a benefit affair for the local [illegible] hospital [illegible] we have [illegible] roost and laying eggs [illegible]

[illegible] odds on Risko are not [illegible] however [illegible] Risko was [illegible] Miami [illegible] Campolo will be [illegible] the man he [illegible] see Risko as the victim of [illegible]

Ruined at Miami

It appears [illegible] that Campolo was [illegible] Miami by an effort to make him a boxer. They further say that he was [illegible] fight wore [illegible] unchanged [illegible] Campolo's rally in the tenth round at Miami carried right on into tonight's fight. Another [illegible] that has them [illegible] the fact that John is the favorite. They say [illegible] when the money says he should.

As to that it would take a hard [illegible] with the proportions of the statue of Liberty to put the finger on John Risko. A very gallant fighter John. Perhaps he isn't the fighter he used to be and in truth he never was too good. Time in fact may be his might [illegible] to go. But the badge of greatness [illegible] in this essential factor no man in the ring today [illegible] to match him. Campolo will be seven or eight inches taller and more than 20 pounds heavier and he will need every advantage but nature gave him.

So did Goliath when he met David.

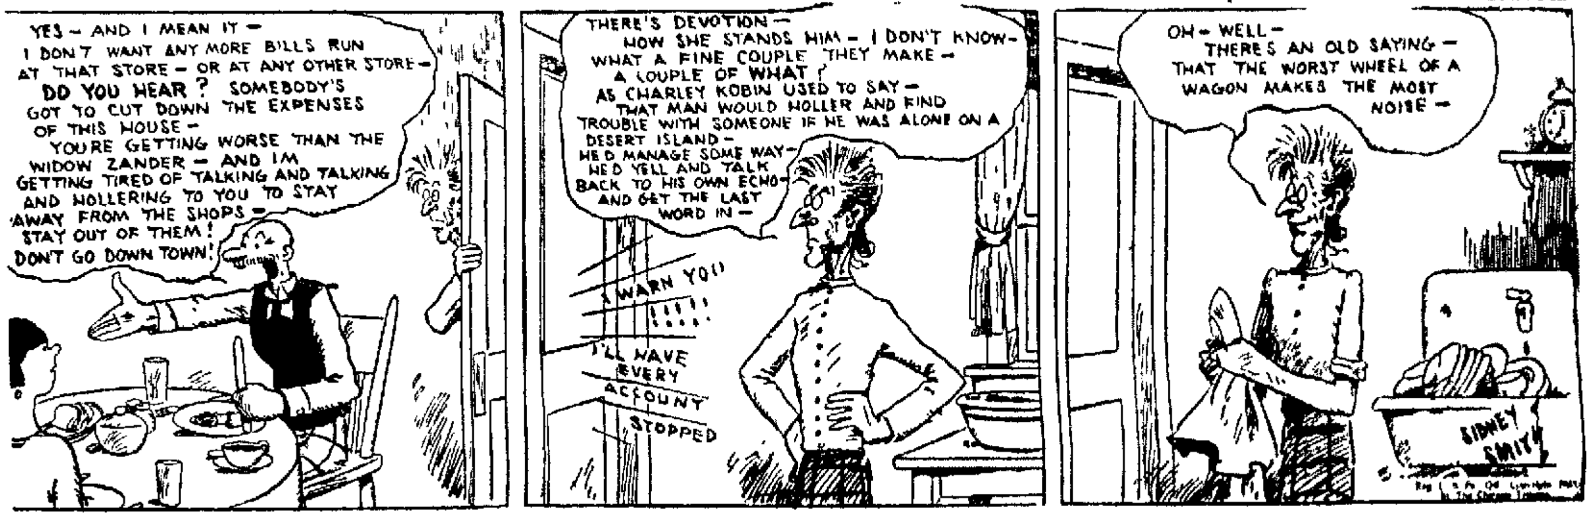
THE GUMPS

BY SIDNEY SMITH



YES—AND I MEAN IT— I DON'T WANT ANY MORE BILLS RUN AT THAT STORE—OR AT ANY OTHER STORE— DO YOU HEAR? SOMEBODY'S GOT TO CUT DOWN THE EXPENSES OF THIS HOUSE— YOU'RE GETTING WORSE THAN THE WIDOW ZANDER—AND I'M GETTING TIRED OF TALKING AND TALKING AND HOLLERING TO YOU TO STAY AWAY FROM THE SHOPS— STAY OUT OF THEM! DON'T GO DOWN TOWN!
THERE'S DEVOTION— HOW SHE STANDS HIM—I DON'T KNOW— WHAT A FINE COUPLE THEY MAKE— A COUPLE OF WHAT? AS CHARLEY KOBIN USED TO SAY— THAT MAN WOULD HOLLER AND FIND TROUBLE WITH SOMEONE IF HE WAS ALONE ON A DESERT ISLAND— HE'D MANAGE SOME WAY— HE'D YELL AND TALK BACK TO HIS OWN ECHO— AND GET THE LAST WORD IN—
I WARN YOU!!!!! I'LL HAVE EVERY ACCOUNT STOPPED
OH—WELL— THERE'S AN OLD SAYING— THAT THE WORST WHEEL OF A WAGON MAKES THE MOST NOISE—
SIDNEY SMITH

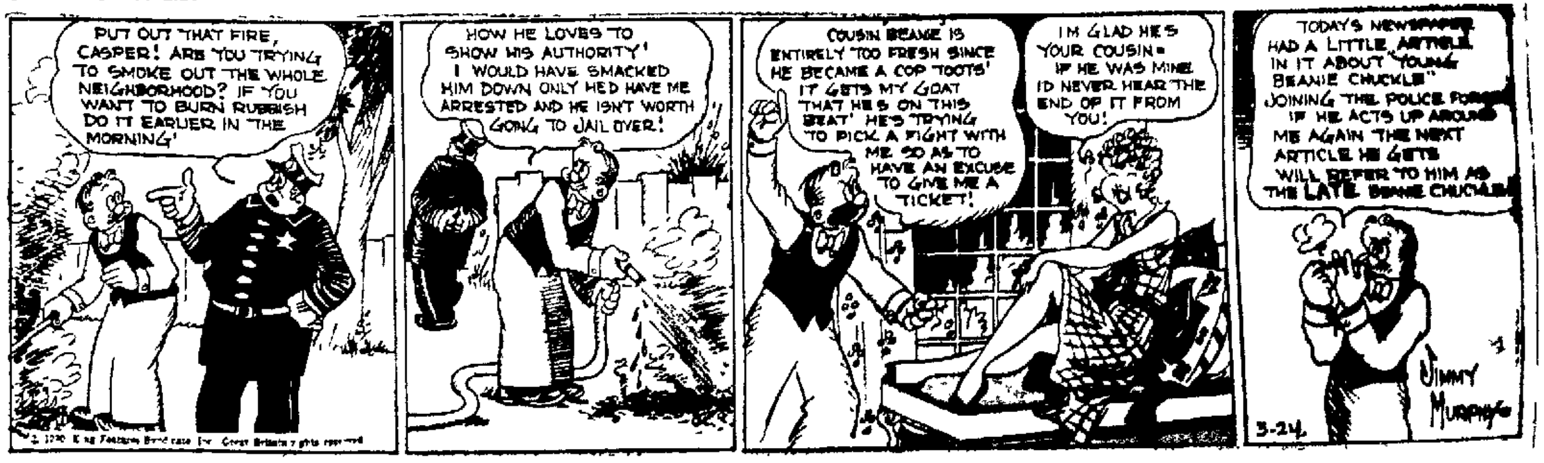
BY JIMMY MURPHY



PUT OUT THAT FIRE, CASPER! ARE YOU TRYING TO SMOKE OUT THE WHOLE NEIGHBORHOOD? IF YOU WANT TO BURN RUBBISH DO IT EARLIER IN THE MORNING!
HOW HE LOVES TO SHOW HIS AUTHORITY! I WOULD HAVE SMACKED HIM DOWN ONLY HE'D HAVE ME ARRESTED AND HE ISN'T WORTH GOING TO JAIL OVER!
COUSIN BEANIE IS ENTIRELY TOO FRESH SINCE HE BECAME A COP TOOTS! IT GETS MY GOAT THAT HE'S ON THIS BEAT! HE'S TRYING TO PICK A FIGHT WITH ME SO AS TO HAVE AN EXCUSE TO GIVE ME A TICKET!
IM GLAD HE'S YOUR COUSIN— IF HE WAS MINE I'D NEVER HEAR THE END OF IT FROM YOU!
TODAY'S NEWSPAPER HAD A LITTLE ARTICLE IN IT ABOUT "YOUNG BEANIE CHUCKLE" JOINING THE POLICE FORCE IF HE ACTS UP AROUND ME AGAIN THE NEXT ARTICLE HE GETS WILL REFER TO HIM AS THE LATE BEANIE CHUCKLE

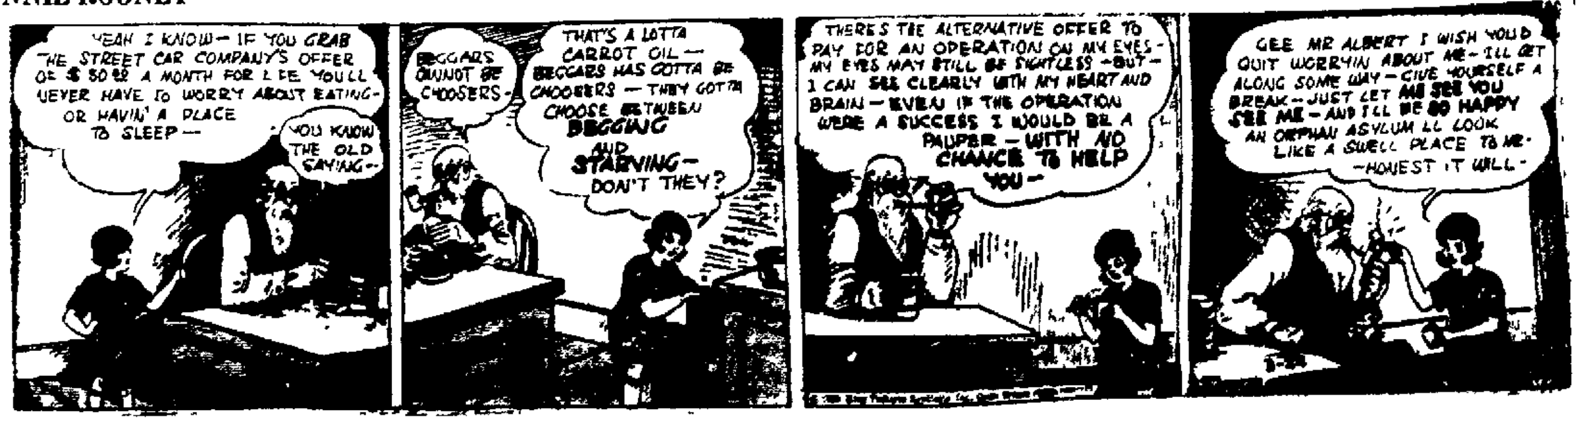
BY BEN BATSFORD



YEAH I KNOW—IF YOU GRAB THE STREET CAR COMPANY'S OFFER OF $50.00 A MONTH FOR LIFE YOU'LL NEVER HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT EATING— OR HAVIN' A PLACE TO SLEEP—
YOU KNOW THE OLD SAYING—
BEGGARS CANNOT BE CHOOSERS—
THAT'S A LOTTA CARROT OIL— BEGGARS HAS GOTTA BE CHOOSERS—THEY GOTTA CHOOSE BETWEEN BEGGING AND STARVING— DON'T THEY?
THERE'S THE ALTERNATIVE OFFER TO PAY FOR AN OPERATION ON MY EYES— MY EYES MAY STILL BE SIGHTLESS—BUT— I CAN SEE CLEARLY WITH MY HEART AND BRAIN—EVEN IF THE OPERATION WERE A SUCCESS I WOULD BE A PAUPER—WITH NO CHANCE TO HELP YOU—
GEE MR ALBERT I WISH YOU'D QUIT WORRYIN ABOUT ME—I'LL GET ALONG SOME WAY—GIVE YOURSELF A BREAK—JUST LET ME SEE YOU SEE ME—AND I'LL BE SO HAPPY AN ORPHAN ASYLUM'LL LOOK LIKE A SWELL PLACE TO ME— —HONEST IT WILL—

GRAIN PRICES MOVE LOWER

Decline at Liverpool and Break at Winnepeg Depress Wheat Market

CHICAGO March 24—New [illegible] of [illegible] lows were recorded in wheat prices at the opening today. Heavy unloading by longs was a feature early. A less decline of 2½c to [illegible] cents at Liverpool and a break of 1⅝ to [illegible] cents at Winnipeg were chief depressing factors here. Weakness [illegible] was at [illegible] the [illegible] of Canadian wheat.

On the decline here support increased somewhat resulting in a [illegible] moderate rally [illegible] 1 to [illegible] corn was [illegible] and gave [illegible] in sympathy with wheat. Oats started [illegible] ¾ cents lower while rye slumped [illegible] to [illegible]¾ cents.

Bear traders [illegible] attached special significance today to the fact that values at Liverpool had dropped deep [illegible] the smallness of world shipments and in twith an ng the [illegible] the amount of wheat on ocean passage was hardly more than half as much as was the case a year ago. Notice also was taken of curtailment of the federal farm board's Minneapolis wheat loan basis to $1 20 a bushel instead of $1 25. Besides reports were current that anticipating a rush of wheat deliveries in May the wheat stabilization corporation was negotiating for millers storage space to avert a tie up at terminals.

On the other hand considerable buying of wheat futures here developed after reports indicating winter-killing of domestic soft winter wheat from Ohio to Missouri was proving to be larger than advices heretofore would suggest.

At the close prices for wheat were up ¼ to ⅝c corn ⅞ to 1⅛ and oats ¼ to ⅜c

Rye failed [illegible] follow other cereals closing 1 to ⅜c lower.

High Farm Crop Yield is Predicted For This Year

Prospects for Good Return on Small Grains Is Prophesied by by Paul C. Smith, Farm Bureau Manager, Much Corn Ground Plowed.

Good yields of small grains are predicted in Marion county this year by Paul C. Smith, manager of the Marion branch of the Ohio Farm Bureau Corp. Only extreme conditions such as droughts, floods or hail storms are likely to prevent good returns, he says.

Prospects of a good wheat crop are excellent, Smith says, due to the loss of less than five per cent of the total wheat acreage. This loss is caused by either late sowing in the fall or from poor drainage which allowed pools of water to stand on the wheat during the high water, according to Smith.

Crop Protected

Wheat was protected during most of the cold weather due to a blanket of snow which kept off the cold winds, Smith pointed out. As a result, the wheat crop is ready to start its spring growth in good condition.

Late sowing of wheat last fall does not allow sufficient growing season to produce a strong, vigorous plant and root system to withstand the winter months. In cases where freezing and thawing have caused the roots to be raised from the surface of the soil, a land roller or other implement should be used to press the roots into the soil, Smith advises.

Fifteen per cent of this year's oats crop already has been sown due to favorable weather conditions this spring. This is an advantage to the farmer since early sown oats in this section invariably gives good yields, according to Smith.

Much Plowing Done

Attention to the proper preparation of the seedbed and to the use of proper fertilizer is stressed by Smith, who points out the [illegible] to the crop.

Sod plowing for corn has been completed on many farms as a result of favorable weather late [illegible] and early this spring.
